ARKANSAS OFFICIALS ARE CONDUCTING
UNUSUALLY VIGOROUS CAMPAIGN

GOVERNOR JEFFERSON DAVIS, of Arkansas.

Governor Jefferson Davis of Arkansas and Attorney General Robert L. Rogers of the same State, both of whom are seeking re-election to public office, have attacked each other from the platform during the course of the political campaign which is already in progress. Money to Be Used to Construct New Court Buildings, a Jail and Bridges.

FREE BRIDGE NOT MENTIONED.

Bill Is Introduced in Council, Accompanied by a Letter of Emphatic Approval From the Mayor.

The issuance of bonds to the amount of $100,000, for the erection of municipal buildings, the construction of streets, sewers and bridges and the general improvement of the city is intended to be compassed by the passage of an ordinance introduced in the City Council.

The measure was prepared by Mayor Wells, with the advice and assistance of Comptroller Player, A. J. O'Reilly, President of the Board of Public Improvements, and City Counselor Bates, and is said to represent the Mayor's ideas, both of the improvements necessary and the methods of accomplishing them.

In his message transmitting the ordinance to the Council Mayor Wells said the submission of the bond proposition at the last general election seemed to have been important. It is now deemed advisable, he said, by many citizens that the question be again submitted for public action.

The ordinance provides for a special election to be held December 12, and instructs the Board of Election Commissioners in the manner of preparing the ballot.

The new bill differs from the ordinance under which the last proposition was submitted in that the several public improvements contemplated are named separately and may carry or fail of adoption individually without defeating the whole proposition. Each proposition may be balloted on without reference to the others.

The ordinance submitted by Mayor Wells contains no provision for a municipal free bridge. Those who favor the new issue and the improvements designed by the administration regard the absence of any recommendation for a free bridge as an advantage. There are so many obstacles in the way of acquiring the land and charter necessary for an interstate bridge. It is indicated that any proposition in the present measure would seriously delay progress toward those improvements which are regarded as more vital.

After Mayor Wells' message had been read, Councilman Ryan moved that it be received and he then introduced the ordinance which accompanied the communication. The measure became Council bill No. 12.

THE PLANS.

Proposition One—For the construction, reconstruction and extension of hospitals and purchase of sites for the same, $300,000.

Proposition Two—For the construction, reconstruction and extension of and additions to the Insane Asylum and for the purchase of sites for the same, $300,000.

WOMAN ADMITS HER INJURIES ARE SELF-INFLICTED.

Blanche Somerset, Hospital Nurse Says Her Story of Assault by Burglar Was Untrue.

WAS FOUND GAGGED AND CUT.

Fact That $65 of a Doctor's Money Was Missing Added Color to Her Story.

ADMITS TRUTH TO POLICE.

She Says She Was Tired of Life and That She Tried to Kill Herself With an Aluminum Comb and a Glass Goblet.

After being subjected to a rapid cross-questioning at the hands of Assistant Chief of Detectives John Kelly last night, Blanche Somerset, the 25-year-old trained nurse, who when found the night before unconscious in the second floor of a hospital at No. 26 North Twelfth street, said she had been beaten, gagged, robbed and left unconscious by a burglar, admitted that she did the work herself and that her object was suicide.

She would not give any reason as to what prompted her to tell the thrilling story of an attack having been made on her and the fierce battle which she described as having followed.

The young woman's story had a thin thread to it, and to satisfy herself and "get at the bottom of the case" Assistant Chief Kelly visited the woman in her room at the hospital at a late hour last night, and for two hours made inquiries into the incident in which she declared she figured.

He examined the wounds on the woman's face, body and hands thoroughly and found a broken goblet, which she previously asserted she broke over her assailant's head. She declared, when pressed, that it was her intention to kill herself, and that this was her object in gagging herself and inflicting the injuries on her body. She is also believed to have taken some drugs, for it required three hours to revive her after she was found unconscious the night before.

Miss Somerset is a nurse at the hospital. Thursday night at 11 o'clock she was found on the floor of the hospital unconscious by Doctor Emma O. Gantz of No. 320 Broadway avenue, when the latter returned to the hospital from a visit to the Century Theater.

Doctor Gantz said she stumbled over the Somerset woman's prostrate form at the second-story landing. She took the woman into her room. She was bleeding and unconscious, and in her mouth was stuffed a towel. Her hands were clenched together for more than an hour, and, failing to revive her, sent for Doctor Joseph W. Warrington of No. 315 Locust street, an official of the hospital. They worked with the young woman for three hours, and finally brought her to. Later Doctor Gantz discovered that $65 had been stolen from her room.

After being revived, the nurse told a horrible story of having been attacked by a burglar "with a cap on." She says she went to the kitchen for a goblet, that as she was leaving the kitchen she was attacked by a powerful man. She gave fight and in the fight, she declared, she broke the goblet over his head. The struggle, she declared, lasted for more than fifteen minutes. Finally she swooned from exhaustion and fright and after that knew nothing.

Cuts about the body, face and hands were presented as evidence of a struggle. They were slight wounds, but there were many of them. Her throat was marked as if she had been seriously choked. She apparently suffered great pain throughout the day.

WOMAN IS DESPONDENT.

When the matter was reported to the police, Chief of Detectives Desmond detailed Detective Corbett and Ryan on the case. They were assisted by Detectives Sullivan, Dunne, Williams, Garfity, Clemens and McCarthy. Detective Corbett was not long in arresting a negro known as "Jim," who formerly worked at the hospital and who, it was reported, took a bunch of keys with him when he left the place. He proved an alibi and was released.

At the time the noisy struggle is said to have occurred between the nurse and the alleged burglar there were ten or twelve persons in the hospital building. One of them, Fred Linnell, was asleep in a room five feet away from the one where it is said to have occurred. Neither Linnell nor any other occupant of the house heard the alleged fight.

She declares that she has nothing to live for, that she is disappointed in a love affair, and that her mother recently died in Hot Springs. There are some of the things that prompted her to attempt to end her life, she says.

"CUDDY MACK" ARRESTED AFTER ASSAULT WITH PISTOL.

Constable John McGillicuddy Is Charged With Striking Private Watchman Whalen.

Displeasure at the manner in which Private Watchman Whalen was walking his beat in the neighborhood of Eighth and Olive streets last midnight is said to have provoked Constable John McGillicuddy, well known as "Cuddy Mack," to assault the watchman with a revolver.

Whalen charges that he was driven into a hallway on the west side of Eighth street and there struck in the face with a heavy revolver.

While Whalen was dodging blows Patrolmen Ryan and Mahoney came to his rescue and arrested McGillicuddy.

To the police Whalen stated that McGillicuddy approached him and asked whether he was the watchman on the beat. When Whalen replied that he was McGillicuddy drew his revolver, according to the watchman, and began the assault.

Laborers Discover Victim of Assault Helpless Near Bank of the Mississippi.

THIRD CASE WITHIN YEAR.

Officials of Jefferson County and of the Barracks Are Unable to Discover Perpetrators of the Various Crimes.

After being shot in the back of the head, robbed and then thrown into the Mississippi River, George Harding, a foreman in the United States Engineering Department, lay in the stream, unconscious, until he was discovered and rescued by two laborers a couple of hours later.

The case is the third of the sort which has occurred in Jefferson County, just below the Barracks, in the last few months, and both the civil and military authorities are working upon the case to decide who perpetrated the deed.

Harding was found early yesterday morning by James Myrick and J. Schnell, who worked in a construction camp close to Jefferson Barracks. His condition was announced as serious, and the exact extent of his injuries cannot be learned. He lost $17 in cash and some valuable papers.

When conveyed to the Post Hospital at Jefferson Barracks it was learned that he had recently fallen heir to an estate in Germany and that he was going to view a small farm which he had bought about eighteen miles below the city.

Harding's address is said to be the Hotel No. 1311 Market street. He was on a furlough at the time of the assault. It is said that he gave some valuable papers to a trust company as security for the payment of his farm, pending the arrival of money he was expecting from Germany.

OBJECT TO CIRCUS TENT.

Sparta Church Members Dislike Covering for Revival Meeting.

SPARTA, Ill., Sept. 22.—Church members of Sparta, who contemplated taking part in a revival, which will be held here during the month of October, are objecting to a big circus tent, which was secured by the Reverend Ralph Atkinson and W. W. Edwards for use during the meetings.

None of the church buildings were considered sufficiently large to accommodate the large crowds which are expected, and the ministers went to Salem, where they secured the tent. It will seat 2,000 persons.

It is believed that the ministers will succeed in overcoming the objections of the lay members. None of the clergymen has expressed the least objection to using a circus tent for religious purposes.

Clash of Rival Parties Takes Place at Cienfuegos, and Chief of Police and Liberalist Die.

TWENTY-FIVE ARE INJURED.

News Spreads Throughout Havana Like Wildfire, and Disturbances With Possible Bloodshed Are Imminent.

RURAL GUARDS ORDERED OUT.

Dynamite Bombs, Ammunition and Weapons Found in Hotel Where Leader Made His Headquarters—Elections To Day.

Havana, Sept. 22.—Official dispatches received this afternoon from Cienfuegos announced the killing of Congressman Enrique Villanueva, leader of the Liberal party, and the most able orator in the lower house, and the Chief of Police of Cienfuegos, during a conflict between the two political parties, the Liberals and Moderates.

The Government advises say the police had information that within the hotel in which Villanueva resided a quantity of arms had been deposited, and they went to the hotel to investigate the matter.

As the police ascended the stairs they were met by a party of Liberals, who fired on them, killing Chief of Police Villanueva. The police returned the fire, killing Villanueva and wounding several others.

Intense excitement prevails at Cienfuegos and Havana.

The Government authorities fear the result which the affair may have upon the election of members of the election boards, which will be held to-morrow.

RIVAL PARTIES GATHERING.

As the news spread throughout Havana the Liberals and Moderates are rapidly gathering in their respective clubs, and it is feared that unless the leaders give wise counsel a clash may result.

A dispatch to the Associated Press from Cienfuegos says that six persons were killed and twenty-five wounded during the conflict. He telegraphed to the Government that he had been shot by a Liberal, who was killed and a number of policemen and civilians wounded.

Rural guards are around the entire block in which the Hotel Sauto, the scene of the affair, is situated. One telegram says that Villanueva fired the shot which killed the Chief of Police, while, according to another telegram, the shot was fired by Jose Fernandez, a Liberal, who has been arrested.

A search of the hotel revealed two dynamite bombs in the room occupied by Villanueva. The police found several others were carrying out the order of a judge, who was informed that explosives were hidden there.

SENDS RE-ENFORCEMENTS.

The Government has received a telegram from Senator Frías asking it to send reinforcements to Cienfuegos. The telegram says: "While in Cienfuegos at present the forces are keeping order, every precaution is needed, as there is danger of assault. I recommend that the authorities prevent the entrance into Cienfuegos of probable trouble-makers, who are liable to incite the city. There are fears of dynamite-bomb threats."

GIRL UNCONSCIOUS; MAN IS SOUGHT.

Young Woman, Who Gave Her Name as Lizzie Brown, Is Found in Street, Suffering Injuries After Attack.

Following an attack which is said to have been made upon her by a man, just as she was about to board a car at Grand and Lafayette avenues, a young woman, who gave her name as Lizzie Brown, is now being cared for at the City Hospital.

According to the reports made to the police, some unknown man struck her and then boarded a car going north on Grand avenue, escaping. The assault is said to have occurred at 8.30 last evening, and the girl was found unconscious in the corner of Lafayette and Grand avenues.

The girl was hysterical when brought to the hospital last night, and kept beseeching a man whom she called "Emmett" not to attack her. Her condition is not regarded as serious.

In an effort to throw some light upon the case the police are now searching for a man known as Emmett Murphy, who is believed to live at No. 124 California avenue. It is said that he has known the young woman for more than a year and that he served as bartender for his brother at Tremont and Chouteau avenues.
